Community garden project brightens street

Digging deep: The members of the Busselton Community Garden are hard at work outside Westpac Bank.

MEMBERS of the Busselton Community Garden have been hard at work creating a garden outside the Westpac Bank over the past few weeks.

The project was funded by Landcare and Westpac with Vasse Irrigation contributing to the sprinkler system.

Community Garden president Pete Malavisi, back left, said the new garden was a great success.

"The artwork on the tiles has been done by Geographe Primary School and there are more tiles to go along the back wall.

"The main community garden is on Strelly Street and this is the first project which has been done offsite."

People can be part of the community garden at all levels and can even be responsible for a specific plot of land in the main garden.

Contact Pete on 9754 8281 for more information on the garden.
